The "In Brief" Series

(12 to 24 pages; no charge for single copy)

THE BILL OF RIGHTS, by Dean Russell

A concise and readable discussion of the nature and meaning of a keystone of individual liberty.

BLESSINGS OF DISCRIMINATION, by F. A. Harper

If man were deprived of the ability or the right to discriminate, he would perish.

CHARITY: BIBLICAL AND POLITICAL, by R. J. Clinchy

A minister finds no Christian charity in the compulsory device of governmental aid.

EATING THE SEED CORN, by F. A. Harper

An analysis of the decline of capital formation in America.

THE GUARANTEED LIFE, by Maxwell Anderson

A leading playwright points out the harsh truth that "Men who are fed by their government will soon be driven down to the status of slaves or cattle."

INFLATION, by F. A. Harper

The dictionary defines inflation as a "sudden increase in the quantity of money or credit relative to the amount of exchange business." Then whoever controls the money supply is solely responsible for the inflation and the resulting high prices.

LIBERALISM STANDS FOR FREEDOM, by Towner Phelan

A compelling discussion of traditional liberalism versus the economic platform shared in common by fascists, communists, and left-wing or neo-liberals.

NOT WORTH A CONTINENTAL, by Pelatiah
Webster

A modern description, written in 1780, of the fatal consequences of governmental tampering with money.

ON THAT DAY BEGAN LIES, by Leonard E.
Read

A vigorous analysis of the danger of permitting organizations to speak for their members. This "thinking by proxy" has developed almost unnoticed and unopposed in the highly organized society of present-day America.

OWNERSHIP IN COMMON, by Dean Russell

An analysis of the trend and consequences of governmental ownership and control, particularly in the electric industry.

THE PENALTY OF SURRENDER, by Leonard E.
Read

An examination of compromise and the "middle way."

PRICE SUPPORTS, by W. M. Curtiss

How governmental interference in the market place affects both producers and consumers.

RIGHTS FOR ROBOTS, by Sir Ernest Benn

A noted British businessman states: "Socialism is not a system; it is a disease. The 'something for nothing' mentality is, in fact, an economic cancer."

SHOW ME ANY OTHER COUNTRY, by Betty Knowles Hunt

A Connecticut housewife's extraordinary answer to a leading Socialist.

SURVIVAL OF THE SPECIES, by Ben Moreell

A four-star admiral declares: "I do not fear the Russian army nearly as much as I fear the concept of using our own laws to relieve individuals of the responsibility for their own decisions and welfare."

TWO PATHS TO COLLECTIVISM, by Russell J. Clinchy

A minister's forthright examination of the danger to freedom to be found in government subsidies. In simple and compelling words, he explains how religious freedom depends upon economic freedom.

WARDS OF THE GOVERNMENT, by Dean Russell

The American Indians have had government-guaranteed "security" for about 100 years. What have been the results?

The "Clipping of Note" Series

(single page; no charge for five copies)

19. PRIVATE ENTERPRISE REGAINED

Governor Bradford's own story of a communist experiment by the Pilgrims.

22. INSURING YOUR INSURANCE

What the government has done to the value of your insurance.

25. THE COMMUNIST IDEA (PART I)
Karl Marx on communism.
27. LIFE ON THE RESERVATION
Government-guaranteed security for the Indians.
28. THE COMMUNIST IDEA (PART II)
Earl Browder on communism.
29. POLITICAL PIED PIPERS
A modern crusade to Utopia.
33. THE VITAL MARGIN
The margin between production and consumption — profit — is now too narrow for safety.
34. THE COMMUNIST IDEA (PART III)
Government ownership in United States.
35. PEACE OR POLITICS
The road to peace lies through the market place.
36. A LESSON IN SOCIALISM
A teacher gives his pupils a never-to-be-forgotten lesson by using the principles of communism to grade papers.
37. LEGALIZED IMMORALITY
The legalization of an immoral act—theft, for example—does not change its immoral nature.
38. THE MOST DREADED ENEMY OF LIBERTY
James Madison on war.
39. THAT SOMETHING
America was not built by persons who relied on someone else to take care of them.

40. FOR THE BETTER ECONOMIC LIFE

Was it governmental edicts, or was it capitalistic achievement, that released women from their 18th century servitude?

41. POWER CORRUPTS

What happens to the character of the person who has the political power to force other persons to do his bidding?

Booklets

CONSCIENCE ON THE BATTLEFIELD, by Leonard E. Read

On the use of force—defensive and offensive—and the various effects that each has on the user. (36 pages; single copy free.)

ILLUSIONS OF POINT FOUR, by Henry Hazlitt

“Once we accept the principle that we owe the rest of the world a living, our responsibilities will become bottomless.” (48 pages; 50¢.)

IN SEARCH OF PEACE, by F. A. Harper

“The thing most to be feared at this time is enslavement from within the nation rather than from without.” This unconventional approach to the age-old problem deserves the careful consideration of all thoughtful persons. (44 pages; single copy free.)

LIBERTY AND TAXES, by Bradford B. Smith

A critical examination of progressive taxation as it relates to the principles of a voluntary society. (19 pages, chart; 25¢.)

MORALS AND THE WELFARE STATE, by F. A. Harper

"Economics and morals are both parts of one inseparable body of truth. They must, therefore, be in harmony with one another. What is right morally must also be right economically, and vice versa. Since morals are a guide to betterment and to self-protection, economic policies that violate moral truth, will, with certainty, cause degeneration and self-destruction." (36 pages; single copy free.)

NO VACANCIES, by Bertrand de Jouvenal

An illustrated report of the effects of over 30 years of French rent control. A practical lesson in economics. (16 pages, charts, photographs; single copy free.)

OUTLOOK FOR FREEDOM, by Leonard E. Read

The story of a person who honestly examines his own soul for socialistic leanings. (39 pages; 50¢.)

THE PENSION IDEA, by Paul L. Poirot

A thorough and thought-provoking exploration of the various advertised "paths to security." (52 pages; 50¢.)

STUDENTS OF LIBERTY, by Leonard E. Read

"The problem of liberty is how to preserve independence in a highly specialized society in which interdependence plays a major role. The understanding of liberty is knowing how to live in a condition where voluntary efforts will be at the maximum, and the use of force against persons at the minimum." (60 pages; 50¢.)

Books Published by the Foundation

FIAT MONEY INFLATION IN FRANCE, by Andrew Dickson White

A vivid report of inflation in France during the French Revolution, and the resulting panic and collapse caused by it. Offers many lessons which apply to present American experience. (74 pages; 50¢.)

INDUSTRY-WIDE BARGAINING, by Leo Wolman

An eminent economist clarifies this issue, and analyzes the origin, causes, effects, and influence of this development in labor relations. (63 pages; 50¢.)

THE LAW, by Frederic Bastiat

What is law? What should it be? By what process is the law perverted from its proper function into an instrument of robbery? This readable translation was originally written in France more than a hundred years ago. And because it deals with eternal truths, it will still be read a hundred years hence. (76 pages; 65¢ paper-bound, $1.25 clothbound.)

LIBERTY: A PATH TO ITS RECOVERY, by F. A.
Harper

A thought-provoking explanation of human liberty and its present plight. A method for measuring lost liberty is here offered. (159 pages; $1.00 paper-bound, $1.50 clothbound.)

MAINSRING, by Henry Grady Weaver

A readable and fascinating story of the history of human progress and how NOT to stop it. More than 150,000 copies already sold. (234 pages; $1.00 paper-bound, $2.50 clothbound.)

PLANNED CHAOS, by Ludwig von Mises

"The case for the free and against the planned economy . . . in simple nontechnical language . . . many varied and stimulating ideas."—William Henry Chamberlin. (90 pages; 65¢ paper-bound, $1.35 clothbound.)

THE TVA IDEA, by Dean Russell

A readable explanation of the social, political, and economic consequences of the TVA "idea" in practice. (108 pages; 75¢.)

WILL DOLLARS SAVE THE WORLD? by Henry Hazlitt

A thorough, clear exposition of the facts and ideas which relate to foreign lending. (95 pages; 75¢.)

Books Available through the Foundation

BUREAUCRACY, by Ludwig von Mises

The author explains that bureaucracy is neither good nor bad in itself. It is an appropriate technique for the conducting of administrative agencies such as the police departments. It is only when these bureaucratic methods are applied in economic activities that they result in disastrous rigidity. (125 pages; $2.00 clothbound.)

ECONOMICS IN ONE LESSON, by Henry Hazlitt

"If people wish to disperse the illusions which push pressure groups and politicians all over the world to economic cannibalism and universal impoverishment, they will form little societies to further the sale and influence of Mr. Hazlitt's incisive economic 'lesson.'" — The New York Times. (222 pages; $2.00 clothbound, 25¢ pocket edition.)

THE GREAT IDEA, by Henry Hazlitt

In the format of a novel, the author has written in macabre and frightening detail of a world-wide communist state in action. Individual freedom and private ownership are unknown in Wonworld in the year of our Marx 282. The hope by which we might now save ourselves is implicit in Mr. Hazlitt's fictional analysis of the rebirth of capitalism from communism. (374 pages; $3.50 clothbound.)

HUMAN ACTION, by Ludwig von Mises

Dr. Mises "treats economics itself as merely part of a more universal science, 'praxeology,' or 'the science of every kind of human action.' . . . This book is the counterweight of Marx's 'Das Kapital' and of Lord Keynes' 'General Theory.' . . . If any single book can turn the ideological tide that has been running in recent years so heavily toward statism, socialism, and totalitarianism, 'Human Action' is that book." — Newsweek. (889 pages; $10.00 clothbound.)

THE KEY TO PEACE, by Clarence Manion

"The author [Dean of Notre Dame Law School] emphasizes that our free institutions rest upon a religious conviction that every individual is a child of God and therefore is of supreme worth. . . . It is one of the greatest books of all my reading experience."—Norman Vincent Peal. (121 pages; $2.00 clothbound.)

MAN VERSUS THE STATE, by Herbert Spencer
In 1851, Mr. Spencer began to publish his essays on liberalism that foretold what would happen to freedom under the socialist-communist theory of government then coming into popularity. This book records the actions taken a hundred years ago that have inevitably and logically resulted in the situation we have today. One of the great commentaries on the functions of government. (213 pages; $2.50 clothbound.)

SOCIALISM, by Ludwig von Mises
Published in Germany in 1922. First English edition in 1937. It is now republished with an added section.
"This book must rank as the most devastating analysis of socialism yet penned. . . . An economics classic in our time."—The New York Times. (599 pages; $5.00 clothbound.)

WHERE WE ARE AT, by Thomas H. Barber
In much the manner of a person chatting with his neighbor, the author points out the forces which have brought us so swiftly into so much war, debt, confusion, and frustration. He explains the meaning of special privileges, and how they fuel the governmental problems which plague us. (255 pages; $3.00 clothbound.)

THE STUDY OF FREEDOM

Some facts about the Foundation. (16 pages; additional copies free on request.)
