Dear Geoff:

now
Thanks for your confirming letter of October 24 regarding Planned Chaos. And we understand from Bob that it can be ready around December 7.

I think it is not necessary to make any changes in copy for this printing. So don't bother to add "1972" on the copyright page.

Dear Paul:

Thanks for asking us to proceed with reprinting PLANNED CHAOS.

Confirming our telephone conversation, we will proceed with a reprint of 10,000 copies with perfect binding at a price of $3,330.00.

I forgot to ask you about any changes, but assume that you want us to add "1972" to the copyright page.

As soon as we know when the paper will arrive, we will give you a production schedule.

Thanks again for recommending us to Hillsdale College. The type of work they are considering will fit our new equipment well-- composition and press work.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Geoffrey:

We're running low on Mises' Planned Chaos paperback, last reprinted by you and delivered here May 19, 1970. We'd like at least 5000 more, with no changes in text, possibly 10,000 if that would significantly reduce the cost per copy. Would perfect binding effect much of a saving? Perhaps you could give me a call when you've had a chance to figure costs.

You've doubtless heard that "Aiming at Freedom" has taken off like an ambitious seagull. So, thanks for better-guessing me on the first run.

Kindest regards.

Sincerely,

Paul L. Poirot
