Dear Hans:

Thanks for sharing that poignant history of your church in Farmers Mills. I'll see that it gets to Bob, Ed, and others here who'll also enjoy it.

We have about 1000 of the Inflation or Gold Standard minibook but could use more if you want to share them. If the 2400 balance in Lansing are more than you'd want, perhaps they'd ship some or all of them directly to us and we could then settle with you or them or whatever is most convenient. I'll leave to you the decision on how best to work it out.

Again, thanks and kindest regards.

Sincerely,

Paul L. Poirot

Dear Paul,
Oakley Braumbe is liquidating his stock of mini books. I bought 2800 copies of my Inflation
or Gold Standard at 18¢
each, and promised to buy the balance (2400) on my next trip to Lausanne.

Can FEE use some ??

Regards,

Hans

P.S. The enclosed piece was written for a Historical Society journal.
Bob may enjoy it.

photocopy to PEGGY, with list.

PEGGY -- please see PLP's note on envelope. Add the names he's X'ed to regular mailing list. For other names, could we have three labels typed up for each name? Send out the March issue now, the April and May (when they arrive) with the bulks.

Dear Hans:

Thanks for the list of 28 students. We'll see that those with the college address get the March, April and May issues and add the other 12 to the regular mailing list at their home addresses.

I also have your paper this morning on "The Second German Inflation" but haven't yet had a chance to read it. So I'll get back to you soon on that.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Paul,

I realize that a student list is highly irregular at this time in the academic year. But it would mean so much for these students to get the Freeman for just a few months (March, April, May). Students who are giving their home addresses would prefer to get it on a regular basis.

Dear Hans:

Gary North just phoned suggesting we send 175 copies of the March Freeman for distribution to participants at the April 1 seminar there. So I hope it's O.K. to ship them to you, because that's what I've done. Each will have a mailing list reply card inserted.

Thanks for your help on this.

Sincerely,
