

When you're hit it's too late to see the red light

WHEN you're poisoned, it's too late to read the label.

When savings, freedom, country are gone, it's too late to inquire if "there is any real difference" between communism, socialism, liberalism. It's too late then, and it's useless.

There is only one safe rule today — read the fine print on every program and alliance-label proposed to you. And accept only those which you know will keep America the strongest power on earth.

That is the kindest thing we could do for the world — keep decent America strong, for without that, there will be no power-for-good alive.

And when that strength is restored, there will be time and safe surplus enough to be as generous as we like with the rest of the world.

Gradall®, a machine of many jobs, digging drainage ditches in a southern town.

WARNER
&
SWASEY
Cleveland
PRECISION
MACHINERY
SINCE 1880