

Standard of Living is machine made

THE reason every American has better food, shelter, health, security than almost anyone in China, India, Africa is machines. Those continents and countries have tremendous natural resources, and are older than America in many skills.

But they don't have the machines.

Modern machines well used (and that's equally important) turn out more things at lower costs which soon means lower prices. Then more people can afford more things.

When politicians promote taxes so high they prevent companies from buying modern machines, and when so-called leaders preach against maximum machine production, both are attacking your standard of living. And both are preaching the weakening of America. They may not be communists but communists couldn't do it better.
