

Who gets the biggest profit from capital investment?

The machine I use cost $11,000.

Somebody denied himself, and saved up, and bought it.

Without that machine I suppose I'd be getting $1 a day like my grandfather did, working by hand as he did. I could only produce enough to be worth $1 a day. Laws wouldn't help; nobody can take in more than he puts out.

But with that $11,000 machine working for me, I get $12 a day. I'm $11 a day better off because of that machine.

So I figure the man who saved up and bought it for me to use is entitled to a little something, too. I understand they call that "profit on the investment". I just call it fair play.

They tell me the fellow who provides me with the $11,000 machine averages only a fraction of what I make by using his machine. Whatever he makes, I think he's got it coming, and more. I hope he keeps on getting it, for I want him to want to save, and keep buying me machines. I don't want to go back to Grandpa's day. I think "the good old days" were terrible.
