The attached script is a condensation of the book, The Mainspring of Human Progress, written in 1947 by Henry Grady Weaver and recently re-published by the Foundation for Economic Education.

Much of it is verbatim from the text, with the exception of transitional material. Eliminations from the text were made in the interest of the adaptation of Weaver's thesis to a thirty minute motion picture. However, there has been, too, a consciousness of the adulteration of certain words and phrases which has occurred even since Weaver's time.

No one can write an effective exposition of any phase of our American Way today, without a sensitive recognition of what Communists and Socialists have done to our language. Even basic American concepts have been distorted as a result of their exposure by "Business Spokesmen" who were naive to the technique of their enemies.

The Philosophy of the American Way is in the Bible.

But, its correlation is only a waypost to the Church and, as such, is an appropriate Aim for the social-minded layman.
