Sirs:

I cannot commend too highly the article in your issue 12/19/55 by Henry Hazlitt under the title "A two point farm program". In my opinion he has hit the nail squarely on the head and his suggestions if adopted and put in force would eliminate most of the farm troubles and the surpluses of farm products that we are having so much trouble with-

I am beginning to raise beef cattle in a small way and I want no price guarantees or subsidies and cannot conceive of any red blooded American wanting either. We should have no price guarantees or subsidies on any item or product but if we are determined to have them then let's have them on everything-

The old law of supply and demand is hard to beat-

Sincerely-

W F Jones
