Davenport, Iowa

Dear Mr. Heysinger:

When I see someone who displays an unusual interest in the philosophy expressed by Dean Russell at the YMC Annual Dinner, I cannot resist an exploration to determine whether or not that person may become a student of the philosophy of freedom which has been rather neglected in this country as elsewhere.

I am, therefore, enclosing for you a few of The Foundation for Economic Education's publications which I have, through this office, distributed on many occasions. They include "The Positive Approach to Personal Rights", Dean Russell's "The Bill of Rights" and Dean Clarence Manion's "Causes of Corrupt Government".

I believe you will find them all interesting and of exceptionally high character.

Congratulations on your excellent handling of your assignment at the dinner.

Sincerely yours,

G. W. Anderson
Executive Vice President
