Dr. F. A. Harper
Foundation for Economic Education, Inc.
Irvington-on-Hudson, New York

Dear Baldy:

In talking to Dean Russell a few days ago, I learned that from sources other than the Foundation, articles have been published and facts related to show that we are truly "eating the seed corn" and consequently capital investment per person is less than it was some years ago.

We are particularly interested in this now because we are planning an educational program for this community, including the schools, civic groups and company employees, on the theme of the need for capital investment to provide jobs and to improve or even retain our standard of living. I wish that you would send me one or two copies of any material which you think might be useful or give me the source of such material and also send me 125 copies of your pamphlet, "Eating the Seed Corn", with 15 or 20 copies of your supplement if you can spare them. I have a number of copies of Dr. Mises' "Capital Supply and American Prosperity". If you have any suggestions of any of your "Clippings of Note" or other short pieces suitable for general distribution, I would like to have your ideas. Thank you.

Cordially yours,

Chet
