Dear Pierre:

Attached is a list of the gift subscriptions to The Freeman made by you and which expire with the January issue.

I sincerely hope that you will want to renew these for another year. If so, you may wish to add or delete names or make other corrections. The rate is $4.00 each for ten or more with a 10 per cent discount for 100 or more.

Beginning with January, The Freeman will be published by FEE and will be in the format of our Ideas on Liberty. In my view, this is going to be a handier and far better journal than The Freeman you have been receiving and more interesting and readable than FEE's Ideas on Liberty. This improved journal is to begin with a distribution of 46,000, a figure we hope will be substantially raised during 1956.

Another point: Your check should be made out to the Foundation for Economic Education and entered in your records, for income tax purposes, as a contribution to a tax-exempt institution.

Best wishes!

Cordially,

Leonard E. Read

P.S. I think next year the idea of having this at the Foundation's headquarters, if the new motel is close enough, might be an excellent idea.
