Dear Mr. Barnett:

Thanks very much for sending me a copy of the testimony of Dr. Robert Strausz-Hupe. All the proposals (and particularly 8 and 9) seem to me to be in the right direction. I may be writing more detailed comment when I have had an opportunity to study them more fully.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Hazlitt:

Knowing your concern for the impact of Foreign Aid on the overall strength of the nation, I thought you would like to see the enclosed.

It is the testimony of Dr. Robert Strausz-Hupe, Director of the Foreign Policy Research Institute, before the Special Senate Committee on Foreign Aid. Senator Martin of Iowa entered it in the Congressional Record.

As you may know, the Foundation helped to create the FPRI in order to:

- a. Devise new strategies that would enable America to better compete with the Cold War maneuvers of Communism;
- b. Define the relation between U.S. resources and the security job to be done -- in order to minimize waste and preserve our own healthy economy.

I would value your candid critique of the thinking in this paper.

Yours truly,

Frank R. Barnett
