Dear Mr. Moore:

Thanks very much for your very complimentary note of September 12th enclosing the three colored stills. The figures on the automobile are tremendously impressive, in the form in which you have put them.

Kindest regards.

Sincerely,

HH/js

Henry Hazlitt

P.S. I thought you might want these stills back and am, therefore, returning them herewith.

My dear Mr. Hazlitt:

It has been so long since I have written to you; but it was not the time for me to write to you. You are a busy man, and I do not want to trouble you.

I am enclosing two colored stills. The titles are: "The new God of America, (The Automobile), and "The New Ruler and his lowly but faithful subjects."

I am attaching data about the automobile; but knowing you, I do not have to give you any data on the greedy farmer.

You're a great writer--I do not have to tell you anything--your genius, I am certain, after looking at these stills, will be able to manifest itself.

Good luck to you and may your health remain well.

Sincerely yours,

Philip J. Moore

P. S. Four to five billion dollars set aside for the destruction of surplus food this year. I can't understand why the present administration is raising so much fuss about the Price Support System and yet, it is giving two and one-half times more than the previous administrations. That is really something--did you ever think about it? Can't understand why this present administration criticizes the system made by the previous Presidents, and, yet, spends twice as much as they ever did to keep it in existence.

I enclosed one more illustration: "The Rape of Freedom." you will be able to give it a good editorial - The dignified monks (Symbiote of Liberia) has ravished liberty.
